While I have no reason to wish either enhance his chances for a crack at the ms are trailers in a majority men, but he only figured in forty-eight big spade who now carries the champion-

There is a story going the rounds to the effect that Johnson has experienced a mental breakdown. Nervous prostration is the polite term given the disorder that the champion is supposed to be the victim of, and many are the reasons assigned as the cause thereof. If Jack has for the lightweight title. really suffered an attack of nervousness that approaches collapse, it is no more than many familiar with his methods and forms of dissipation have been looking for. Like all negroes, the first big money in sight turned his head. Johnson was hardly cut out for the riotous living system, and in trying to go the white man's pace has rather overdone the thing, and is bound to pay the penalty. Those more charitably inclined blame the so-called breakdown to the scare that Barney Oldfield handed Jack in the recent motor contest, in which the demon driver used some of the rough tactics that have made his name a terror to rivals. Leo Houck, the promising middleweight boxer, who looks to me to have a mighty good chance for the championship, has been forced to quit the game for the present. Houck was unlucky enough to break his hand in a recent contest, and just when he was coming down the line and winning over every man he tackled. A youngster who can take the measure of Jimmy Gardner in six short rounds must be there with the goods, and that is what Leo already has accomplished. For a newcomer in the game the Lancaster lad has a record to be proud of, and I hope that the injury to his hand will not keep him idle long.

Papke May Meet Squires. Billy Papke has not been heard from lately, and is probably finding the picking fortunate enough to clean up all the mid-dleweights, the Australian sports may trot out our old friend Squires for the final big doings, and as Boshter Bill is still looked upon with favor in the antipodes there aught to be good money in it for all concerned. It is not thought that and it puffed up like a balloon. I don't Papke will experience any great difficulty like to get hit on the ear. You can buy in annexing the honors in his class over false teeth or fix up your nose, but you there. When he returns to his native shores he will not lack for work, as there is that all important matter of determining Stanley Ketchel's successor. There light fellow and a few pounds seems to are several who would like to dispute the slow me up, so it'll be easy for me to matter with the former middleweight keep within the 133-pound limit. There has been much hue and cry over the recent Lewis-Dixie Kid mix-up in New York city, and, to my way of thinking, too much prominence has been given to two very ordinary welterweights. The affair was touted in the newspapers by able press representatives as a championship contest, and the fans were worked up to gueh an extent that nothing less than a such an extent that nothing less than a pear here after the holidays, but he says knockout would satisfy them. The contest he will cancel bookings on reasonable went the limit, and the boys were accused notice to take on any promising bouts. of hippodroming, and there is talk of His trainer, Perry, by the way, also nas starting a blacklist with their names at a record. He trained Bat Nelson to dethe top of the column.

It would be a crime to permit any crooked work to interfere with the plans now under way for the legalizing of professional boxing. At the same time it is not always advisable to jump at conclusions and to condemn mediocre boxe when sometimes the best they can is so bad that it looks crooked. Bo Lewis and Dixie, if measured by t championship scale, would be found for short of the standard, and the former owes what reputation he possesses a fighter more to clever management than to his ability with the gloves. T affair was unquestionably punk as scientific exhibition, but it could hard be called a frame-up, as both men we fighting hard all the way, according the advices that have reached me. Too much was expected from the me him to serious consideration as a cano date for the welterweight championship A man like Packey McFarland coul wade through all the welters in the gan in a few months. weeks ago, but Moran, as you remember, just one week ago' secured a knockout the count for the first time in his ring career. So now Moran is a person to be interviewed and listened to attentively while he tells how it all happened, and how he would like to meet Ad Wolgast

To the Briton's credit he still wears the same size hat, although a more nobby model than when he went west, and beyond a certain elation in his talk as befits an aspirant for a championship, he is the same modest little fellow who made friends before any one gave him a serious chance to reach the top round in his class. Moran credits Nelson for gameness in his defeat, and says he does not think any other fighter ever would have arisen from the first knockdown in the eleventh round, which was a right flush to the point of the chin. Moran further said that three of the following knockdowns were preceded by no mere toy blows, but that the last time Bat went down it was more of a push than anything else, as the Dane was hopelessly gone, and he hated to hit such a game fellow hard.

Likes the Rushers.

The Briton wants a chance at Ad Wolgast on any reasonable terms and for any route, saying: "Of course I would expect a hard fight, but honestly, I think these tough fellows who come rusing in are made to order for me. I stand back and catch them coming in. It was so with Nelson, and I think it would be with Wolgast. Seems to me Wolgast is foolish not to fight more while he is champion. # CAN BEAT WOLGAST Omohundro Offers the Men of Washington the Greatest Tailoring Values of the Season

Mr. Omohundro purchased from one of the largest importers in this country the most exclusive line of winter suitings ever shown in this city. Blues, grays and fancy mixtures of the very latest patterns can be bought here for ten dollars less than anywhere else in Washington. Don't confuse this offer with the so-called tailors' overstocked sales. We did such a remarkable fall business we've practically closed out our large stock of suitings; that's why we made this purchase. Call and get samples and compare them with other local tailors'. We know we will win your order.

Mr. Omohundro advises what is correct and becoming. He gives you the benefit of his judgment in the selection of reliable materials. His master designers and custom tailors make your garments express individuality and emphasize character-garments that every man can see were made for you.

Suits (1) Coats

Never has such an assortment of fabrics been offered at a price that begins to approach this in lowness. Also included at this price are our famous "OMO" Black Thibet Suitings, the most popular thibet value in Washing-

Suitings and Overcoatings such as these are usually marked in the neighborhood of $30. Even at that price you will find it hard to duplicate these weaves and colorings. The selection at this price is practically unlimited.

Included at this price are many of the most desirable imported weaves. Materials that give a garment an air of distinction that even the highest order of tailoring cannot bring out when less expensive fabrics are used.
